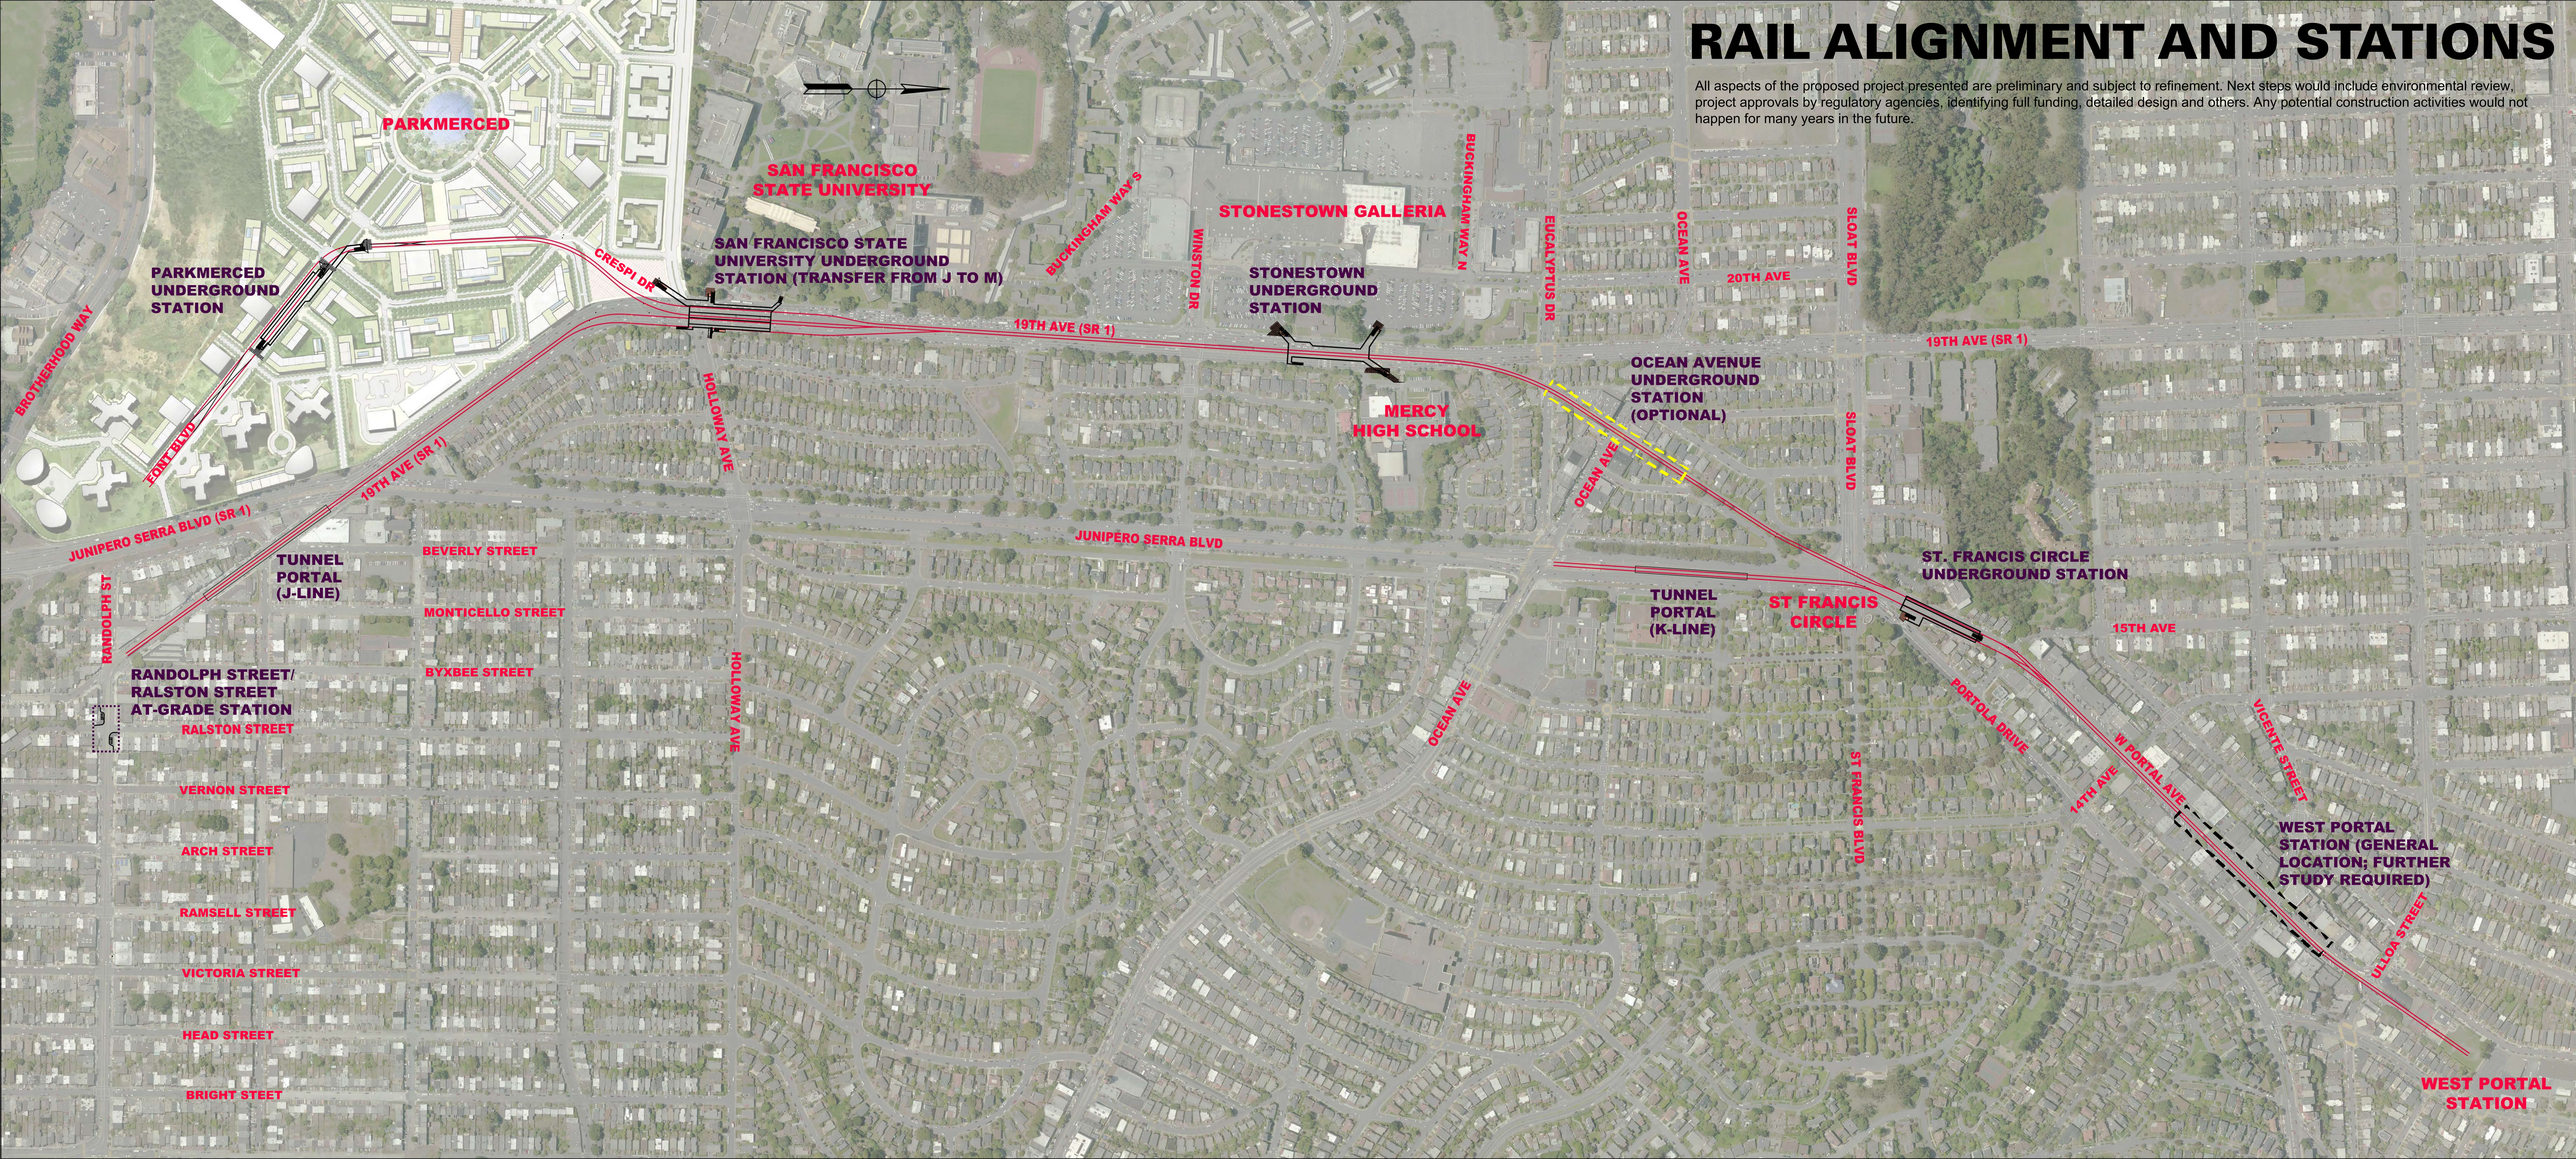
RAIL ALIGNMENT AND STATIONS


All aspects of the proposed project presented are preliminary and subject to refinement. Next steps would include environmental review, project approvals by regulatory agencies, identifying full funding, detailed design and others. Any potential construction activities would not happen for many years in the future.